Missouri University of Science and Technology

Keynote Address - Dr. Ty-Ron Douglas
Associate Professor – University of Missouri - Columbia
Educational Leadership & Policy Analysis
Black Studies Affiliate

Dr. Douglas is an Associate Professor in the Educational Leadership and Policy Analysis Department at the University of Missouri and Executive Director of the Salt City Center. His research explores the intersections between identity, leadership, and education, with an emphasis on Black masculinity, spirituality, and community-based spaces (e.g. barbershops, churches and sports venues).

The author of the award-winning book, Border Crossing Brothas: Black Males navigating Race, Place and Complex Space (see book trailer https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9oLZB6vxs) and the recipient of a NCAA Innovations in Research and Practice Grant to study Black male student athletes, Dr. Douglas’ work has also appeared in outlets such as The Urban Review, Educational Studies, Teachers College Record, and Race, Ethnicity, and Education. He has two forthcoming books, including Campus uprisings: Understanding Injustice and the Resistance Movement on College Campuses (Teachers College Press), which provides guidance for executive and campus leaders in the areas of diversity, equity and inclusion.

Life’s most persistent and urgent question is, “What are you doing for others?”
